

Fredi – boys, equality and human rights

An educational material

Fredi – boys, equality and human rights is an educational material, in which gender equality and human rights are been explored from the points of view of boys and men.

Material has been produced as a network project. The World of Boys and Men -project started in 2004 and it will be finished in May 2007.

The project has been coordinated by Finnish Federation of Settlements. It has been funded by Foreign Ministry of Finland.

Fredi's main users are the teachers and other youth workers, but it gives everyone, who are interested in equality and human rights a chance to take a peak into the world of boys and men.

Fredi consists of facts, stories, statistics and pictures made by comic artist Jii Roikonen. A group of volunteer teachers have created exercises to bring the facts alive.

The material challenges the teachers and other youth workers to think about questions concerning global gender equality and human rights together with the adolescents (about 12-20 years of age).

Fredi – boys, equality and human rights will be published in June 2007. The material is free. Orders and further requests should be addressed to Finnish Federation of Settlements:
